OF GREATER HOUSTON

Jewish Education Inclusion

Expanding belonging for children with diverse learning profiles

RESOURCE

THE JEWISH FEDERATION OF GREATER HOUSTON ASPIRES to make our education tent bigger, so every child and family feels they have a place in Jewish Education in the Greater Houston community. The Federation provides resources for students, schools, families, teachers, and caregivers to better serve children of all abilities and with diverse learning profiles.

KEY PROGRAMS

Family Consultations: Meeting with caregivers to review testing, goals and recommendations, discuss new providers, and more so families determine first next step to help children gain greater access to success in their Jewish education.
Jewish Providers Network: Diagnosticians, therapists, and related professionals providing services throughout the greater Houston community.
Instructional Support Specialists Network: School based learning specialists who represent each campus – day school and early childhood.
School Counseling Network: In partnership with Jewish Family Services, and Children's Mental Health Program Lead, school-based counselors who represent each campus: day school and early childhood.
Mifgash: A parent and caregiver group for education inclusion, connection, and resources.
U of H Speech Language and Hearing Clinic Partnership: U of H graduate students provide speech, language, and hearing screenings on Jewish early childhood campuses and therapeutic services at Torah Day School and Jack Segal Academy at no additional cost to participating families.

MY SON NEEDED SPEECH THERAPY and I was struggling to find a speech therapist that would come to his school. I met with Amy and she was able to get him evaluated and set up with a speech therapist that works with his school schedule. Amy was communicative and helpful and we can already hear his 'R' pronunciation improving." — An Elementary Parent
